A former Holley High School English teacher admitted this week in U.S. District Court to possessing child pornography.

Steven Choi, 41, of Irondequoit pleaded guilty to possession of child pornography. The charge carries a maximum of 10 years in federal prison. According to Assistant U.S. Attorney Melissa Marangola, the FBI Child Exploitation Task Force identified Choi accessing child pornography online. Examination of Choi's computer recovered sexually explicit photographs of prepubescent girls.

Choi, who is no longer employed by the Holley Central School District, is scheduled to be sentenced at 3 p.m. May 15 by U.S. District Court Judge Elizabeth A. Wolford.

Choi also had photographs of "clothed young teenage girls taken in public places," FBI Special Agent Barry Couch said in an affidavit. He also possessed photos of clothed girls at a "YMCA and 'Science Center,' " Couch said.

"When asked if he was sexually aroused by the girl at the Y that looked about 13 years old, Choi responded, 'I don't know. Just wanted to satisfy voyeurism,' " the affidavit states.

The affidavit provided no additional specific information about the locations where the photos were allegedly taken.
