

David Dimbleby, Hilton schools chief, to retire

JUSTIN MURPHY

@CITIZENMURPHY

Hilton Central School District Superintendent David Dimbleby will retire at the end of 2015 after 10 years on the job and 30 years working in the district.

He started as a middle school special-education teacher and rose to become a building principal, then superintendent in 2005. During his tenure, the district expanded the reach of its International Baccalaureate program and, earlier this year, adopted the Urban-Suburban program.

"As the superintendent of Hilton, I have had the privilege and good fortune to work with a progressive and supportive board of education, a high quality, student-centered administrative team, and a dedicated, collaborative group of teachers and staff who place the interests of students above their own," Dimbleby said in a statement. "My experiences in this district for the past 30 years as a teacher and administrator have been exceptional."

The district has enlisted Monroe-2 Orleans BOCES Superintendent Jo Anne Antonacci to lead its search for Dimbleby's replacement, with the goal of having a new person in place by Jan. 1.

Hilton will be the sixth Monroe County district to find a new top leader this year. East Rochester, Fairport, Greece, Penfield and Webster all have named new superintendents already.

JMURPHY7@DemocratandChronicle.com

FREE Infrared Automation Guidebook
The Ultimate IR Resource Guide for Automated Processes

Get the Guide

FLIR

The advertisement features a blue background with white and yellow text. On the right side, there is a small image of a guidebook cover with a colorful abstract design and the FLIR logo.

Powered by TECNAVIA

Copyright © 2015 Democrat and Chronicle 05/28/2015